Foreword

Well what a year it has been, we have enjoyed somewhat of a merry-go-round of events. The highlights for us have been seeing the first progeny of Hemingford Maximus hitting the ground. They look very promising for the future. Also the bull beef schedule reaching $6.80/kg in the first week of December was fantastic, we were able to capture this with the sale of our Friesian bulls, unfortunately for the industry it has been downhill ever since.

This years drought has been extreme and quite testing, the bulls have come through well due to a good spring and early summer period, we also took one mob of heifers off the farm in order to feed everybody. We are very happy with this years sale bulls, the work we have been doing with temperament and polled animals is really showing through.

With the Covid-19 situation we have seen unprecedented change and uncertainty, and it has likely changed the world forever. Thank goodness we are farming and have been able to carry on as normal for the most part. This year we will be running a hybrid type sale with people able to bid on farm and online, it will be very interesting indeed.

We look forward to seeing you this year.

John Henderson

Please Note: The EBVs in this catalogue are an estimate based on parental data due to Covid 19 holding up the processing of our data in the USA. We may still get these before sale day and if so, an updated catalogue or a supplementary sheet will be provided.

History of Auahi Charolais

Auahi Charolais was founded in 1981 by John and Perry Henderson on the family farm near Piopio in the King Country. The inaugural herd consisted of one cow and two heifers purchased off Glen Able of Hamilton. For the following 20 years John implemented an intensive Artificial Insemination program using mostly champion Canadian bloodlines which are still in play today. The main attributes the Henderson's have focussed on over the years have been a Low Birth Weight, Polled animal that finishes well to meet the commercial beef market, and more recently working on temperament in which great gains have been achieved. This year's crop of bulls are testament to all the hard work that has been done over the last 40 years and the Henderson's are very proud.

In 2018 John travelled south to Hemingford Charolais stud in Culverden, North Canterbury in search of better genetics and not only topped the sale but purchased the highest priced Charolais bull in New Zealand for 16 years, Hemingford Maximus. His combination of excellent structure, quiet temperament, strong breed plan figures, including marbling in the top 10% of the breed, made Maximus worthy of his high price. His highly anticipated offspring are looking very promising for next years sale and into the future.

Auahi Charolais is a Certified Breeder of the New Zealand Charolais Cattle Society who take great pride in the research and quality of data available to help you select the perfect sire for your herd.

For the Henderson Family, Breeding Charolais cattle has been a lifelong devotion and you will go a long way to find someone more passionate about the breed.
