

PRESENTERS

Royden Hindle, Barrister, Bankside Chambers, Auckland

Royden is an experienced Construction Contracts Act adjudicator, arbitrator, and commercial mediator. Between 2002 and 2011 he chaired the Human Rights Review Tribunal. Royden is a member of the Arbitration and Mediation Panels of the Arbitrators' and Mediators' Institute of New Zealand; a Principal Arbitrator, Evaluator & Mediator with both the New Zealand Disputes Resolution Centre and the New Zealand Building Disputes Tribunal; and a Resolution Institute-accredited mediator. He also chairs a number of ad hoc Tribunals, and teaches Dispute Resolution at AUT. Royden is presently the Vice President and Director of Professional Studies at AMINZ. Since his return to private practice in late 2011 Royden has delivered over 50 determinations under the CCA.

Edward Scorgie, Partner, Chapman Tripp, Auckland

Edward advises clients on all aspects of commercial dispute resolution, with a particular interest in construction disputes and tax litigation. He regularly advises on construction disputes and issues of all kinds, including complex delay and disruption claims, latent defect and workmanship issues following construction of new assets, and contested payment claims and performance bond issues. Edward is the team leader of the Chapman Tripp Auckland litigation team. He is also a Director of the Building Industry Federation, a member of the New Zealand Society Legislation Committee and a chair of Chapman Tripp's Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Committee.
