

PRESENTERS

Michael Cameron, Department of Corrections, Wellington

Michael is legal manager of advice and legislation for the Department of Corrections. In 2016 he won the Law Foundation’s International Research Fellowship for his project on “Realising the Potential of Driverless Vehicles”. Michael’s report for that project was released on 19 April 2018 and contains recommendations for law reform. He has many years of experience advising on, developing and implementing legislation in New Zealand and the United Kingdom in a number of different subject areas including public health, drinking water, flood protection and climate change adaptation, public/private partnerships, debt recovery, regulation of monopoly providers, public adoption of private infrastructure and compulsory acquisition, powers to compel telcos to provide customer information, and corrections/justice legislation. In 2015 Michael won the ILANZ Chapman Tripp Public Sector In-House Lawyer of the Year.

Eric Forster, Barrister, Hastings

Eric is a criminal barrister practising in Hawkes Bay. He has practised criminal law for over 26 years. Eric has experienced legal issues arising from alcohol – from impaired driving to intoxication directions in murder trials. He brings a wealth of practical experience to the discussion.
