

PRESENTERS

Neil Anderson, Partner, Chapman Tripp, Wellington

Neil specialises in competition, regulatory and antitrust law. With extensive experience engaging with regulators, Neil focuses on merger proposals, formal investigations of alleged anti-competitive conduct and industry-specific regulatory issues. He has advised various domestic and international parties on cartel enforcement matters, including Commerce Commission investigations and participation in the Commission's leniency policy.

Dr Mark Berry, Barrister, Auckland

Mark specialises in competition and consumer law and economic regulation. He is a former partner of Bell Gully and is also a former consultant of Chapman Tripp. From 2009-19, Mark served two terms as Chair of the Commerce Commission. He is co-author of Gault on Commercial Law and has published widely in New Zealand, Australia, the United States and Europe.

Lucy Cooper, Partner, Chapman Tripp, Wellington

Lucy specialises in competition law and regulation. She engages with the Commerce Commission on cartels, competitor collaborations, merger clearances and a variety of other competition and consumer matters, and advises clients on their everyday competition law, consumer and regulatory issues.
