

PRESENTERS

Robert Kirkness, Thorndon Chambers, Wellington

Robert is an experienced disputes lawyer specialising in commercial, public and international law. He has represented corporations, individuals and the Crown in a wide-range of commercial and public law litigation before the New Zealand courts (Supreme Court, Court of Appeal, High Court and District Court) and acted for corporations and sovereign States in some of the most complex and high-profile matters submitted to arbitration in the past decade. Robert is recommended by all major legal directories. He accepts appointments to serve as arbitrator in commercial disputes.

Sally McKechnie, Simpson Grierson, Wellington

Sally is a leading public law and regulatory advisor and litigator who previously worked as Crown Counsel. She helps both public and private clients to manage a wide range of public law and regulatory issues – including administrative decision making and processes, regulatory and statutory obligations, and judicial review. Sally assists clients with engaging with inquiries and Royal Commissions and in responding to investigations by public agencies, such as the Ombudsman, Auditor General and Privacy Commission. She has considerable trial and appellate experience and appears regularly in the High Court, Court of Appeal and before inquiries, specialist courts and tribunals.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
