

PRESENTERS

Alice Handcock, Prosecutor, Police Prosecution Service, Wellington

Alice is a Prosecutor with the Police Prosecution Service in Wellington. She advises and represents Police on a range of prosecutions, and is presently managing all “remand in custody” police prosecutions in the Wellington and Porirua district courts. Alice has a special interest in therapeutic jurisprudence and prosecutes the Special Circumstances Court in Wellington.

Mark Wilton, Principal Prosecutor/Acting Legal Advisor, Police Prosecution Service, Wellington

Mark is the Principal Prosecutor for the Police Prosecution Service (PPS) based at Police National Headquarters. He is also acting national Legal Advisor for the PPS. Mark is a litigation lawyer with a criminal law speciality who was previously in private practice in the Wairarapa and Wellington as criminal defence lawyer and youth advocate before he joined the PPS. In addition to his prosecutor roles, Mark teaches advocacy courses at the Royal New Zealand Police College and is regularly deployed to the pacific to teach on prosecutor advocacy training programmes. He is a past NZLS Vice-President and Board member. Mark is also a past President of the Wellington Branch of NZLS. Currently he is Vice-President of ILANZ and also the convenor of the national NZLS Courthouse Committee.

The statements and conclusions contained in this presentation are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society.
