

PRESENTERS

Carole Curtis, Marshall Bird, Auckland

Carole has practised law for about 25 years and specialises in immigration and refugee law. She also practises in Mental Health, Civil, Family and Criminal law. She has mentored many practitioners and especially loves refugee law because it involves learning not only the claim, but all about the claimant's country: culture, religion, geography, history, political structures and way of life. Carole finds this fascinating. Skills that she has acquired in other areas of law often apply to refugee law, a rewarding and sometimes complex area of law.

Ioana Uca, Barrister, Auckland

Ioana is originally from Romania and migrated to New Zealand in 1999. She graduated from Law School (Auckland University) in November 2003 and has practised law since April 2004. Ioana specialises in immigration law (visa applications, applications for ministerial special directions, deportations and humanitarian appeals, immigration fraud and cancellation of refugee status cases) and refugee/protection law, mental health and family law.

The statements and conclusions contained in this paper are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
