

Private International Law in New Zealand

1. INTRODUCTION	1
1.1 What is "private international law"?	1
1.2 The sources of New Zealand private international law	3
1.3 The scope of this booklet	4
2. WHY BOTHER WITH PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW?	7
3. HOW COURTS DEAL WITH FOREIGN LAW	9
3.1 Why do New Zealand courts refer to foreign law?	9
3.2 The ascertainment of foreign law	9
3.3 Sections 37 to 40 of the Evidence Act 1908	11
3.4 Evidence Amendment Act 1990	12
4. JURISDICTION AND FORUM CONVENIENS – WHICH COURT WILL A DISPUTE BE HEARD IN?	13
4.1 The nature of the issues	13
4.2 Acting for a plaintiff who wishes to sue a defendant not resident in New Zealand	14
(a) Service in New Zealand	14
(b) Service under an agreement	16
(c) Service on an attorney or agent	17
(d) Personal service out of the jurisdiction	18
(e) Service out of the jurisdiction without leave – High Court Rule 219	18
(f) Service out of the jurisdiction with leave – High Court Rule 220	20
(g) Substituted service	22
(h) Notice of proceeding for service under High Court Rules 219 or 220	23
(i) Serving the documents	23
(j) The defendant's response	24
(k) Entry of judgment by default	25
(l) Summary judgment applications	26
(m) Disputes Tribunals proceedings	28
(n) Persons who cannot be sued in New Zealand	28
(o) The importance of thinking about enforcement against foreign defendants	31
4.3. Acting for a foreign defendant upon whom New Zealand proceedings have been served	32
(a) Option one – do nothing	32
(b) Option two – object to New Zealand jurisdiction	33
Objecting to New Zealand jurisdiction where proceedings were served under r 219	36
Objecting to New Zealand jurisdiction where proceedings were served under r 220	39

(c) Option three – apply for a stay on the grounds of forum non conveniens	40
(d) Option four – defend the action in the normal way	41
4.4 Acting for a defendant validly served in New Zealand	42
4.5 Factors relevant to forum conveniens and forum non conveniens	43
(a) Principles	43
(b) Burden of proof issues	47
4.6 Forum clauses	47
(a) Submission to New Zealand jurisdiction	48
(b) Submission to a foreign jurisdiction	49
(c) Clauses relating to forum conveniens	50
4.7 Acting for a New Zealand defendant upon whom proceedings in a foreign court have been served	50
(a) Obtaining advice in foreign jurisdiction	50
(b) Injunctions to restrain foreign legal proceedings	51
5. ENFORCEMENT OF FOREIGN JUDGMENTS	53
5.1 The effect of foreign judgments in New Zealand	53
5.2 Enforcement of foreign judgments at common law	53
(a) Which foreign judgments are enforceable at common law in New Zealand?	54
(b) Jurisdiction of a foreign court	54
(c) Judgment for a debt, or definite sum of money	55
(d) Judgment not in respect of taxes, fines or penalty	56
(e) Judgment must be final and conclusive	57
(f) Conclusiveness of foreign judgment in New Zealand	57
(g) First defence: judgment obtained by fraud	57
(h) Second defence: enforcement contrary to public policy	60
(i) Third defence: breach of natural justice	60
(j) Recognition of foreign judgments	61
(k) Cause of action does not merge in foreign judgment	62
(l) Procedure for enforcement	63
(m) Limitation period for action on a foreign judgment	64
(n) Judgment in foreign currency	65
5.3 Enforcement under statute: the Reciprocal Enforcement of Judgments Act 1934	66
(a) The legislation	66
(b) Which judgments can be registered under Part I of the 1934 Act?	67
(c) Part IA – Orders of Federal Court of Australia under Trade Practices Act 1974 (Cth)	70
(d) Applications for registration	70
(e) Effect of registration	73
(f) Applications to set registration aside	74
(g) Recognition of judgments under the 1934 Act	80
5.4 Statutory enforcement of Commonwealth judgments to which the 1934 Act	80

does not apply
5.5 Indirect enforcement of foreign judgments	83
6. INTERIM RELIEF	85
6.1 Introduction	85
6.2 Interim relief in respect of assets outside New Zealand	85
(a) Interim relief can be granted in respect of assets outside New Zealand	85
(b) Protecting third parties outside New Zealand: the " Babanaft proviso"	87
(c) Limiting the use that may be made of information that is disclosed	88
(d) Disclosure orders where defendant may face criminal charges	88
(e) Interim orders against defendants not resident in New Zealand	89
6.3 Disclosure orders against third parties in respect of foreign assets	90
6.4 Interim relief in New Zealand in support of foreign proceedings or foreign arbitrations	92
(a) Interim relief in support of foreign proceedings	92
(b) Interim relief in support of foreign arbitrations	94
6.5 Enforcing New Zealand interim orders in other countries?	95
7. OBTAINING EVIDENCE IN CROSS-BORDER LITIGATION	97
7.1 Obtaining evidence from outside New Zealand for a New Zealand proceeding	97
(a) Willing witnesses	98
(b) Unwilling witnesses	103
(c) "Trans-Tasman" arrangements	103
(d) Provision of discovery from overseas persons, for New Zealand proceedings	106
7.2 Obtaining evidence within New Zealand, for an overseas proceeding	108
(a) Willing witnesses	108
(b) Unwilling witnesses	108
(c) Provision of discovery from New Zealand, for overseas proceedings	110
8. INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION	113
8.1 The Arbitration Act 1996	113
8.2 Stay of New Zealand proceedings	114
8.3 Enforcement of foreign awards in New Zealand	116
8.4 Enforcement of New Zealand awards overseas	117
8.5 The law applicable to the conduct of an arbitration	118
8.6 The law to be applied by an arbitrator to the substance of the dispute	118
9. WHAT LAW WILL THE COURT APPLY?	121
9.1 Outline	121
9.2 The substance/procedure distinction	121
(a) Contracts Enforcement Act 1956	121
(b) Limitation statutes	122
(c) Presumptions	123
(d) Parties to the action	124
(e) Set-off and counterclaim	124
(f) Damages	124

(g) Types of remedy	124
(h) Priorities	125
9.3 Characterisation of issues, and connecting factors	125
(a) Characterisation	125
(b) Connecting factors	126
9.4 Exclusion of foreign law	127
9.5 Applying New Zealand statutes to cases with foreign elements	127
9.6 Renvoi	129
10. CONTRACT	131
10.1 The proper law of a contract	131
(a) What is the "proper law"?	131
(b) Identifying the proper law of a contract	131
10.2 Choice of law in contract: selected topics	134
(a) Capacity to contract	134
(b) Formation of a contract	136
(c) Formal validity	136
(d) Essential validity	137
(e) Who can rely on a contract?	137
(f) Interpretation of the contract	137
(g) Obligations under a contract, and their performance	137
(h) Discharge of contracts	138
(i) Illegality	138
(j) Breach of contract	139
(k) Sale of goods: Vienna Convention	140
(l) Moratoria	141
10.3 Contracts made online	142
(a) The importance of choice of law clauses	142
(b) Limits on the effect of choice of law clauses	143
11. TORTS	145
11.1 Acts and omissions outside New Zealand	145
11.2 Does New Zealand law always apply in relation to acts done in New Zealand?	147
11.3 Where is a tort committed?	148
11.4 Accident compensation	149
12. STATUTORY CAUSES OF ACTION	151
12.1 Action based on a New Zealand statute for a wrong done outside New Zealand	151
12.2 Action in New Zealand based on a foreign statute	152
13. RESTITUTIONARY CLAIMS	155
14. PROPERTY – AN OUTLINE	157
14.1 Classifying property as movable or immovable	157
14.2 Where is property situated?	157

14.3 Transfers of movables	159
(a) Tangible movables	159
(b) Intangible movables	159
14.4 Transfers of immovables	160
14.5 Jurisdiction in relation to immovables	160
15. DRAFTING CONTRACTS TO TAKE ACCOUNT OF CROSS-BORDER ISSUES	163
15.1 Choice of law clauses	163
(a) The purpose of a choice of law clause	163
(b) Draft choice of law clause	164
(c) Variations	164
15.2 Forum clauses	165
(a) The purpose of a forum clause	165
(b) Draft non-exclusive jurisdiction clauses	166
(c) Variations on non-exclusive jurisdiction clauses	167
(d) Draft exclusive jurisdiction clauses	168
15.3 Agents for service	169
(a) The purpose of an agent for service clause	169
(b) Draft agent for service clause	170
(c) Variations on agent for service clauses	171
15.4 Arbitration clauses	172
(a) General issues	172
(b) Draft arbitration clause	173
15.5 Incorporating clauses in online contracts	174
(a) Making incorporation of clauses effective	174
(b) Other issues	175
(c) Managing the risks of contracting online	176
APPENDIX 1 – NEW ZEALAND CASES RELEVANT TO THE SCOPE OF RULE 219 HIGH COURT RULES	179
APPENDIX 2 – COUNTRIES TO WHICH THE RECIPROCAL ENFORCEMENT OF JUDGMENTS ACT 1934 EXTENDS	183
APPENDIX 3 – EXAMPLES FOR DISCUSSION: CHOICE OF LAW, FORUM AND AGENT FOR SERVICE CLAUSES	187
DISCUSSION PROBLEMS	195