

PRESENTERS

Alex Ashmore, Barrister, Auckland

Alex practises in Auckland. He has had considerable experience in applying for and defending applications for protection orders, representing children in applications and representing clients in the criminal court in relation to domestic violence charges. He practises in all areas of family law with a focus on advocating for children and relationship property.

Her Honour Judge Smith, Dunedin

Judge Smith was appointed as a District Court Judge in 2004. Prior to this she had worked as a criminal and family court litigator in South Auckland before moving to Taranaki where she began to specialise in family law with a particular emphasis on child advocacy, sexual abuse cases, domestic protection work and property litigation. Working with the dynamics of domestic violence was commonplace and applying for relief or defending applications under the Domestic Violence Act was, at times, a daily occurrence.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such.
