SPEAKERS

Chair: David Goddard QC, Wellington

David has a wide-ranging commercial litigation practice with an emphasis on contract law, company law, competition law and regulation, public law, and private international law. He also has a substantial involvement in law reform in NZ and overseas, advising government agencies and inter-governmental organisations.

Robert Buchanan, Assistant Auditor-General – Legal

The office of the Auditor-General has a key role in Crown entity accountability. Robert has been in his current role since 1998 and has an extensive working knowledge of the legislative, governance, and financial environment in which Crown entities must operate.

Jenny Cassie, Barrister, Wellington

Jenny specialises in public law, including legislative drafting. She spent a large part of 2003 working at the State Services Commission and then the Parliamentary Counsel Office on the consequential amendments necessary to implement the Crown Entities Act 2004 for the numerous existing Crown entities.

Ivan Kwok, Treasury Solicitor, Treasury

Ivan was appointed Treasury Solicitor in 1993 after some years as Assistant Treasury Solicitor. In all, he has spent 28 years in Treasury. Ivan has been involved with corporatisation and asset sales of the mid 1980s onwards including the development of the State-Owned Enterprises, Crown Research Institutes, Public Finance, Crown Forests Assets Acts.

Janet Lewin, State Services Commission

Janet has been working on the “Crown Entities Bill” since joining the State Services Commission in June 2000 and saw the legislation through the House. Prior to that, Janet worked in the Justice Sector – mainly in the areas of criminal justice, civil claims, children’s evidence, the privilege against self-incrimination, and the Courts’ Charter.

Roger Palairt, Palairt Law, Wellington

Roger is the principal of Palairt Law, a specialist law firm established in 2004 to provide advice to government departments and other Crown agencies. He was the Director Legal Services for the Ministry of Economic Development from 1999 - 2004. Before that, he worked for two law firms, first in the areas of banking and corporate finance, and then developing his public law specialisation.

Phillippa Smith, Chief Legal Adviser, State Services Commission

Phillippa has worked in New Zealand and England, in private practice, in industry, and in government. Before taking up her current position in 1998, she was Assistant Auditor-General – Legal, from 1993 to 1998 having previously been involved in establishing the legal section in the Audit Office and worked as a solicitor at Chapman Tripp.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
