

PRESENTERS

Peter Eady, Simpson Grierson, Wellington

Peter advises corporates, financial institutions, SOEs, local authorities, corporate trustees and investment banks in relation to a wide range of financing issues including the implications of the PPSA on their business.

Adam Jackson, Simpson Grierson, Wellington

Adam has a wide range of experience in secured financing transactions (bonds and loans) and derivatives. His practice regularly involves structuring transactions and documents to meet PPSA requirements and advising on technical PPSA issues.

Acknowledgement

During the time since the PPSA was enacted, a large number of high quality articles and books have been written on the topic. The authors' views have been shaped by this literature, as well as by a combination of their own experience, thoughts and discussion. It is not practical, or indeed possible, to distinguish where the various ideas that make up this paper come from, because many of the ideas have been presented by more than one source and/or have been independently developed by the authors. It is also not practical to set out a bibliography as much of the literature was read by the authors before this seminar was even contemplated.

Notwithstanding this, it would be remiss of us not to give due acknowledgement to the text Gedye, Cuming and Wood, Personal Property Securities in New Zealand (Wellington, Brookers, 2002), which we would recommend to any practitioner with an interest in the PPSA.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
