

PRESENTER

Edwin Lim, Hudson Gavin Martin, Auckland

Edwin is a partner at Hudson Gavin Martin, a boutique technology, media and IP law firm. He has significant experience in New Zealand and the Middle East in technology procurement, start-ups, outsourcing, IP commercialisation, technology due diligence, and general commercial and corporate matters. Edwin has worked for clients in various industry sectors including the technology, banking, government, media, automotive and healthcare sectors. In addition to his law degree, he has a commerce degree majoring in Information Systems, so he understands the commercial, technical and legal issues involved in technology matters. Edwin is a board member of the New Zealand Software Association, New Zealand Game Developers Association, and is the Secretary of the New Zealand Middle East Business Council.

The statements and conclusions contained in this paper are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
