

PRESENTERS

Claire Harmsworth, Senior Associate, Bell Gully, Wellington

Claire's main area of practice is providing commercial and public law advice to public sector entities, and advising a range of clients on climate change matters. A key area of Claire's practice involves advising a range of public sector entities on their procurement processes, including reviewing and drafting procurement documentation, providing probity and procurement advice. Claire has been extensively involved in developing a number of unique commercial contracts for entities in the public sector undertaking new portfolios of work.

Simon Watt, Partner, Bell Gully, Wellington

Simon specialises in climate change law and in providing commercial and public law advice to public sector entities. He advises government departments, state-owned enterprises, Crown entities and statutory corporations on the regulatory frameworks that apply to them. Simon advises on consultation and decision-making processes aimed at fulfilling public law obligations and managing judicial review risks.

CONTENTS

UPDATE ON RECENT HIGH COURT CASE RELEVANT TO PUBLIC SECTOR PROCUREMENT	1
INTRODUCTION	1
BRIEF OVERVIEW OF THE FACTS OF THE CASE	3
RISK AREAS FOR PUBLIC SECTOR AGENCIES TO BE AWARE OF IN THEIR PROCUREMENT	4
(a) Adhering to process rules	4
(b) Evaluation panel	4
(c) Evaluation scoring stage	5
(d) Evaluation moderation stage	5
Practical suggestions going forward to deal with risk areas	6