

YOUR WORKSHOP LEADER

Ralph Brown

Ralph has a background in television, psychology and business.

He speaks to conferences and leads workshops throughout New Zealand and overseas.

Ralph has a special interest in positive psychology – the science of thriving.

Four of his six books are on psychology and communication.

He has also written six e-books and 150 articles – including two for international research journals.

Ralph founded what is now Skillset New Zealand 30 years ago and remains its managing director. He a JP, enjoys regular trips to France and lives in rural Canterbury.

Keeping your team (including your millennials) motivated

By Ralph Brown, Skillset New Zealand

Contents

1. A few questions to get you started	1
2. What is motivation?	2
3. Are millennials really any different?.....	3
4. What motivates most people at work?	4
Some valuable questions from Gallup.....	4
Extrinsic Vs Intrinsic motivators.....	4
The three universal motivators	5
5. Leadership styles and motivation	6
6. Mindsets	7
Feedback that motivates	7
7. Explanatory style	8
A special kind of optimism.....	8
8. How to lead staff who work from home or remote offices	9
What have we considered so far that would help?	9
Important conversations.....	9
9. Resilience	10
Subjective well-being	10
How to achieve more subjective well-being.....	10
Reframing	11
10. Setting and achieving goals	12
11. Making the changes last	13
Positive pessimism	13
When it all goes wrong.....	13
SOME USEFUL READING	15
12. Make the three universal motivators your focus	15
Put the three universal motivators into action.....	15
Avoid using self-esteem as a motivator	16
13. Keep the team and your accountants happy	16
Develop a mission for you and the team	17
Give feedback that really works	17
Be a gossip	18
Think carefully about your different generations.....	19
Choosing staff to work remotely? Think carefully	20
Build your relationships with those you lead.....	20
14. Tools for your persuasion toolkit	20
First: establish your credibility	20

Use the power of questions	21
Use the consistency principle	22
Use the power of the negative argument	22
Inoculate your audience.....	23
Change behaviours with examples	23
HELP THEM DEVELOP – ESPECIALLY YOUR MILLENNIALS.....	24
15. Choices motivated resilient people make.....	24
Choose to take charge of your life	24
Choose to be courageous.....	24
Choose to be unembarrassable.....	24
Choose to think independently.....	25
16. Boost your happiness quotient.....	25
Choose to be happy now	25
Savour pleasant experiences.....	25
Make gratitude a way of life	25
Separate your self-esteem and your goals.....	25
Invest in healthy relationships.....	26
17. Build successful relationships	26
Contribute to the reservoir of goodwill.....	26
Take the long-term view	26
Forgive	26
18. Achieve your goals	27
Make sure the goals are your goals.....	27
Plan your goals.....	27
Take care with the size of your goals.....	27
Use this powerful idea to keep you on track, healthy and happy.....	27
Don't miss out on eudaimonia.....	28
Make a plan to handle the obstacles and setbacks.....	28
Ease up on the optimism	28
Follow the advice of someone who's been to the top.....	28
Monitor your progress.....	29
Avoid being obsessed with your goal.....	29
Take care with your determination.....	29
Monitor your behaviours	29
19. Turn medical advice into action	30
20. Develop your resilience	30
Be wary of stress tests.....	30
Forget 'my glass is always half-full'	31
Consider reframing	31
Help the 'everyday magic' do its job.....	32
Make healthy comparisons	32

Use the Three Cs of Resilience.....	32
Don't let a fixed mindset hold you back.....	33
Choose a growth mindset	33
Celebrate success the right way	33
Accept the 'down days'	34
Be kind to yourself	34
21. Enhance your professional reputation.....	35
Maintain 'the professional you'	35
22. Work on your new habits	35
Accept that new habits take time.....	35
Focus on what works	36
Cure procrastination.....	36
Link a new habit with an old habit or inevitable event.....	37
Forgive the lapses.....	37
23. References	39
24. Answers and explanations	45