

PRESENTER

Brenda Ratcliff, MindMeld Coaching, Wellington

Brenda is a trainer and leadership coach using techniques based on understanding how successful communicators get the results they want, and applying these same skills to situations that require change. She runs training in presentation skills for people who have a variety of important moments they need to get right, such as working with stakeholders, conference keynote speakers and job interviews.

Brenda is a certified Life Coach and Multiple Brain Integration Techniques (mBIT) coach. She is also a certified coach for the Inventory of Work Attitude and Motivation (iWAM), an online diagnostic tool to help people understand their own communication styles and how they come across to others.

Cover and text stocks used in this publication are from Forestry Stewardship Council certified mills, manufactured under the environmentally responsible paper manufactured environmental management system ISO 14001, using pulp from well managed forests and other controlled sources.

Speaking your clients' language

Brenda Ratcliff
2018

Table of Contents

Introduction - why we are here	3
Learning objectives	3
Webinar summary	3
Speaking Your Clients' Language	4
Why thinking about motivation is important	4
Thinking about thinking	4
Creating emotional meaning leads to motivation, which leads to action	5
Conversational de-railers	6
The Big Why - a new tool for speaking to client's motivations	7
Why is this tool important?	7
Where has this tool come from?	7
How you know whether a client is Towards or Away From motivated?	10
Useful sentences to speak to your client's motivations	10
How do you use it?	10
Important points to get right when using motivational language	13
The importance of getting the Nod	14
Practical examples - your turn	15
Conclusion	17
References	17
Brenda Ratcliff - bio	18