

PRESENTER

David Goddard QC, Wellington

David Goddard QC has a wide ranging commercial litigation and law reform practice, with an emphasis on competition law and market regulation, company law, contract law, public law and international law. He studied law at Victoria University and Oxford University, then taught law at Bristol University for two years before returning to New Zealand. He worked at Chapman Tripp from 1988 to 1998, then began practice as a barrister sole in 1999. David was appointed Queen's Counsel in 2003.

David publishes and speaks extensively in his areas of specialisation. Since returning to New Zealand, he has taught part-time at universities in New Zealand and Australia. In recent years his teaching has focused on regulation and facilitation of commercial activity, and international legal coordination. David is the moderator of the contract law papers of the New Zealand universities, appointed by the Council of Legal Education. He is a former member and chair of the NZLS Continuing Legal Education committee, and has presented seminars for the NZLS on Private International Law, Company Law, Developments in the Law of Obligations, and Deception in Commercial Dealings.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
