

PRESENTERS

Bill Loutit, Simpson Grierson, Auckland

Bill is one of New Zealand's leading public sector lawyers and is a partner in Simpson Grierson's local government and environment group. He specialises in litigation and alternative dispute resolution in the administrative law, environmental and resource management fields. Bill primarily advises local authorities, but also corporates and developers on their ongoing obligations, rights and duties under the Resource Management Act. He has extensive experience in advising local authorities on judicial review and local government issues. Bill has substantial experience with large infrastructure projects. He is a leading litigator in the resource management and public sector areas and has had numerous appearances before the Environment Court, the High Court, the Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court. He has been involved in many of the "landmark" environmental cases in New Zealand.

Margo Perpick, Wynn Williams & Co, Christchurch

Margo leads the resource management and local government specialist team of Wynn Williams & Co. She advises local authorities, iwi, Crown entities, property developers, and other individuals. Her experience is diverse, including urban development, retailing location, air quality, water quantity and quality, irrigation and water storage schemes, windfarms, forestry, mining and landfills. Margo holds an engineering degree in addition to her law degree, which has given her a heightened ability to deal with the engineering and scientific evidence which is ubiquitous in environmental law cases.

The statements and conclusions contained in this booklet are those of the author(s) only and not those of the New Zealand Law Society. This booklet has been prepared for the purpose of a Continuing Legal Education course. It is not intended to be a comprehensive statement of the law or practice, and should not be relied upon as such. If advice on the law is required, it should be sought on a formal, professional basis.
