

WOMEN'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP
RECORDS

1940 — 2015

FIFTH EDITION — 2015

INTRODUCTION

The following pages contain, as far as I can ascertain, the winners and runners-up of all Women's and Girls' New Zealand domestic competitions since the inception of our sport up until the completion of the most recent season. At this time I have not been able to document runners-up prior to 1958, but hopefully some of that information will become available in due course.

Earlier listings of the various championship winners have generally been assembled under a trophy banner, ie winners of the Beatty Cup or the Bensel Cup. While that method served the purpose admirably at the time, changes — notably sponsorship and different tournament formats — make that approach, in my opinion, more cumbersome.

Many trophies were re-allocated and sometimes superceded, and on occasions reappeared in a different role, which sometimes made it difficult to follow just what competition/format they were being awarded to. I have therefore opted to list competitions continuously from the beginning until, in some cases, they were eventually discontinued altogether and note, as best I can, the various stages trophies were awarded or discarded.

With most age-group categories I have added explanatory notes, which hopefully make clearer the evolution of the various grades. These days our "official records" largely ignore the days before Under-19, Under-17 and Under-15 grades, but I think it is important to ensure the records are maintained as accurately as possible right from the beginning of those grades which played such a huge part in building our sport in the '60s.

For the updated Second Edition of the records I added all relevant individual batting records covering all grades from the time I have been able to establish they were first awarded. In some cases awards initially carried tournament sponsors' names, but with lack of clarity around later award names I have opted, in most cases, to not record the trophy name. Batting records follow on immediately after their relevant tournament category.

Also, on the last page, I have included records of the New Zealand Players of the Year from their inception as the Bank of New South Wales awards in the 1968-69 season. Unfortunately tracing the winners has not been as clearcut as it probably should have been because of the haphazard way of recording results in annual reports when awards were often not able to be published prior to their presentation and subsequent listings recorded the wrong year. Consequently we cannot establish, with certainty, the 1982-83 and 1983-84 winners when John Vaughan & Co had the naming rights. Their involvement with the "Player of the Year" awards should not be confused with their sponsorship of "Player of the Tournament" awards in the same years. Any information welcome.

While I've tried to ensure the accuracy of these records by double checking wherever there was a doubt, I'll be surprised if there is not a slip-up somewhere. In a few places listings vary from previously published records and where I have come across a conflict I have referred to NZSA annual reports, old programmes or newspaper reports and even my own favourite publication, "Softball Scene". However, I am keen to receive feedback from anyone who can enhance the accuracy of this material.

In the interests of brevity I have opted to assemble men's and women's records in separate documents, both of which I have forwarded to you. I have also chosen to colour code the two genders to save any confusion and accordingly RED denotes Women's and Girls' grades, while GREEN identifies Men's and Boys' grades.

Note that the identifying colour also denotes the beginning of a new grade, while the colour Black marks a change in name/classification/age within that section. Example UNDER 19 GIRLS and SENIOR SCHOOLGIRLS.

WENDY ROWSE MEMORIAL BATTING TROPHY

Top Overall Batting Average, Interprovincial Women

At the 1964-65 National Tournament in Christchurch the Waikato team presented the above trophy in memory of leading player Wendy Rowse, who had lost her life in a motor accident shortly before the tournament. The mounted bat, used only once by Wendy, was designated to be presented to the batter at the tournament with the highest average, regardless of whether from a Senior "A" or Senior "B" team. Subsequently trophies, often bearing the tournament sponsor's name, were awarded to the player achieving top average in the "A" Section only, with on occasion the same player succeeding in winning both trophies. The Wendy Rowse Award continued to be contested until the NPC wound up after the 2008 event, but the second trophy met its demise following the 1994 tournament.

UNDER 21 JUNIOR WOMEN / FILLIES

A Junior Women's (Under 21) tournament for the Coca Cola Trophy was scheduled in 1961 but failed for lack of entries, as it did in 1962. However a Wanganui challenge in 1962 resulted in a 21-4 win to Auckland. A tournament was played at Crawford Green, Wellington, in 1963, but after the Tauranga tournament in 1969 interest fell away until a resumption in Hastings in 1977 on an invitation basis. Later the tournament became known as the Fillies Tournament.

UNDER 19 GIRLS

This tournament evolved out of the original Senior Schoolgirls Tournament which was first played in Lower Hutt in 1963 in conjunction with the Senior Schoolboys Tournament. In 1980 the tournament played at Tokoroa became an age limit event for Under 18 Girls.

The 1987 national tournament held in Auckland moved to an under 19 age limit because of New Zealand's intention to enter the under 19 junior world championships for the first time that year and has remained so ever since.

The Dalley Cup, awarded to the runner-up from 1979, was originally awarded to the Second Division winner from 1976.

UNDER 17 GIRLS

Tournament originated as Under 16 Girls and first played in 1983 in Wellington with Auckland the inaugural winner. Boys had been playing a similar age tournament since 1981 when the boys' national tournament went to Under 14 (from Under 15) for one year before North and South Island Under 14 Boys' tournaments were instituted. However, girls remained playing nationally at Under 15 until 1982 when North and South Island events began, but a year later both girls' tournaments moved to Under 14 and the Under 16 tournaments began. Age change to Under 17 was made for the 1995 season at the Nelson tournament.

NATIONAL JUNIOR SCHOOLGIRLS

First played in 1960 at the Polo Ground, Miramar, Wellington, in conjunction with the Boys' event which had been played for the first time in 1959. Played in conjunction with the Boys' tournament until 1968.

Tournament discontinued after 1969, but resumed at Petone in 1975. Interestingly all four tournaments, Boys' and Girls' Junior and Senior were played in conjunction in Auckland in 1964.

Became Under 15 Girls in 1980, North and South Island Under 15 in 1982, North and South Island Under 14 in 1983, back to North and South Island Under 15 in 1995 and has remained that way.

Tournaments became "open" to entrants from either island in 2000, with the proviso that associations that wished to enter the "other" island tournament must also field a team in their own island fixture.

In the 1999-2000 season the Annual Air New Zealand Awards, announced at the AGM, were inaugurated. They covered the categories of Coach of the Year, Player of the Year, Umpire of the Year, Scorer of the Year, Administrator of the Year and Personality of the Year. Category winners received a return fare within New Zealand and the overall winner (Softballer of the Year) receiving a double (later single) return fare to Australia. The separate awards were made for three seasons before all awards were merged in 2003 and the winners named at the AGM or on an appropriate occasion.
